

BOOHAI

& The Gustav Chekhov complex

The greatest supergroup no one has heard yet

47 Musicians and 12 visual artists

BIOGRAPHY

Boohai's collaboration with an eclectic bunch of musicians for a long overdue debut album has brought forth a weird and wonderful musical tapestry. Appalachian folk fiddles sit beautifully alongside electronica, rock and indie whilst half century old spliced tapes are interwoven with angelic harmonies, soothing pianos and lush melodies. Join the collective on a melancholy journey laced with hope and grace.

Grammy award-winners play alongside unsung heroes, strangers, lovers, old band mates, international rock legends and indie icons. Much of the album was forged at the legendary Welsh cottage 'Bron Yr Aur' where Led Zeppelin retreated to in 1970 in a visit that changed the course of rock n roll history.

Soundbites

“Chance McCoy launches spacey, banjo fueled stomp into Americana’s outer orbit”

— Rolling Stone

Rachel Mayfield - A Goddess of Indie Rock - NME

Murray the Hump "somewhere between the bucolic surrealism of Super Furry Animals and the cerebral pop of XTC." NME

“Total nine guitar attack-rock" David Ryley - Fudge Tunnel - NME

“Lisa Curry is so honest that it makes you wonderfully uncomfortable. She is able to take the pain and dysfunction of modern adult female life and spin it into hilariousness.”

Madeleine Smithberg - The Daily Show
